

FORA Copenhagen launches Global Pathways, an Erasmus + Project.

Global Pathways empowers youth by developing, testing and launching new tools that enhance their professional development as youth workers. The project enables youth workers to provide Sustainable Entrepreneurship Education to young people.

MISSION:

To contribute at mainstreaming Sustainable Entrepreneurship Education in non-formal sector as to combat youth unemployment and nurture sustainable development of our societies.

WE AIM TO:

- Provide Sustainable Entrepreneurship Education to young people in their local communities;

- Produce a training manual in Sustainable Entrepreneurship Education;

- Enable at least 140 young people in India, Kazakhstan, Vietnam and Denmark to engage in sustainable entrepreneurship as way to combat unemployment and poverty.

IMPACT

Youth workers strengthen their motivation to conduct activities on the topic with local young people.

Results achieved on local level, shall strengthen the youth workers' job satisfaction that further strengthens them in their role as educators.

With capacitated and motivated youth workers, the partner organisations, but also other civil society organisations, renew their educational programmes, enhancing their relevance to the needs of young people and local and global challenges.

Young people enhance their entrepreneurial spirit, develop responsible attitudes towards available resources and a sense of collective responsibility in growing sustainable and equitable societies.
